

Mental health is our business. Make it yours, too.

Become a HopeWay Corporate Partner

As a HopeWay Corporate Partner, you will help provide extraordinary psychiatric care to hundreds of people each year and educate thousands more in our region and beyond. You will help increase awareness around mental illness and decrease stigma. Most of all, you will send a message to your employees, your customers, your board, your industry and our community: mental health matters. And that is how healing begins.

Katie

“HopeWay not only saved my life, but it also saved my career. I never wanted my depression to carry over into my professional life but it's inevitable when you lack motivation and focus throughout the day. Through HopeWay's treatment plan, I learned how to become the best employee I could be by not letting trivial mistakes get to me, being okay with saying no, and setting healthy boundaries to increase my productivity. Since receiving treatment, my performance has excelled and I was even able to change positions at my company to better align with my career goals.”

Why mental health matters.

1 in 5 people suffer from a mental health condition.¹

Depression is a leading cause of disability worldwide and is a major contributor to the overall global burden of disease.²

$1 trillion in lost productivity is the estimated cost of depression and anxiety to the global economy per year.²

1 out of every 8 emergency department visits by a U.S. adult involve mental illness and substance use disorders.³

Annual medical costs can be reduced 50 - 62% relative to the cost of hospital re-admittance by providing psychiatric intensive outpatient services.⁴

70 to 90% of all patients treated with a combination of medication and therapy demonstrate a great reduction in symptoms and improved quality of life.³

How HopeWay is making a difference.

97% of clients with severe and very severe symptoms of depression at admission experienced clinically-significant reductions of depressive symptoms at discharge.

Over 1,500 people reached annually through educational events to raise awareness and reduce stigma about mental health.
